

Jo Figi ~ YWAM

The weather in Colorado has been very up and down this winter. It can be in the 50's one day and in the 30's the very next day, and sometimes even lower. Recently we had the Bomb Cyclone blizzard. It took a lot of people by surprise and pretty much shut the city down for a day and a half. We need the moisture because of wildfires, since we are in a semi-arid climate. We don't have flooding yet, but the mountains have above average snowfall, so the newscasts are saying it's not if we have flooding, but when we have flooding, and it can flood all the way into June.

I have been keeping quite busy in the accounting office processing donations for our staff and projects. We have field staff that have been coming to the campus for a visit to reconnect, get prayer, process some of the things they have been seeing, and share what God is doing.

We have a young lady here now that is working with refugees. They are displaced in a country that isn't their own, so they are asking about the Lord Jesus and hungry to learn all they can about Him. Another young lady working with refugees in a different country, shared that her bathtub was used to baptize a refugee that she and her co-workers had been sharing the gospel with for many, many months. She was overjoyed!

God is on the move and I'm thankful to be able to do my part to enable our staff here to train more missionaries, and our field staff to be able to further God's Kingdom to those yet needing to hear the Gospel.

God Bless You,
Jo Figi
