Summer Plans

Spring is here and summer is right around the corner. If you're like me you've already been thinking about summer, what you would like to do, what's already on the calendar, and where you can fit in some more activities. It seems each year the church summer calendar gets more and more full. Mission trips, an annual meeting, a canoe trip, an outdoor baptism, weddings, V.B.S., an outdoor service and picnic, campouts, throw in Mother's Day and Father's Day, Fourth of July, and the holidays that mark the beginning and end of the summer, Memorial Day and Labor Day, and there you have it. Add in a birthday or two, a family reunion, trips to visit family, and the 13 weeks of summer are overflowing.

I often think of what a saint from days gone by wrote (I wish I could remember who and what book), "Busyness isn't of the devil, it IS the devil." If that's true, we should go to the Lord with our calendars in hand! God's Word tells us planning is good, but it needs to be done with discernment, "The plans of the diligent lead surely to advantage, But everyone who is hasty comes surely to poverty." (Proverbs 21:5, NASB). When we get directions from the Lord for planning, our plans will stand the test of time, "Many plans are in a man's heart, But the counsel of the Lord will stand." (Proverbs 19:21). More and more authors and speakers I hear today are referring to the dangers of busyness to our lives and the need for both prayer and margin.

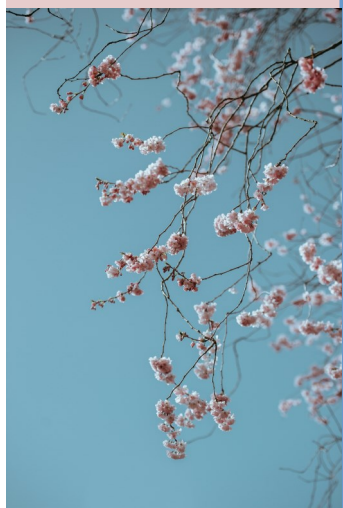

Margin is space between activities. It's space for downtime, time to recover. Margin can be as simple as leaving home or work early enough to arrive 10-15 minutes early. It's amazing how relaxing it is to arrive early, or how the slow driver, or the delay in road construction, is so much less upsetting with margin. Margin is not scheduling things back-to-back. Margin is a day off each week without a long to-do list and it's a vacation that isn't jam packed with sites to see and things to do.

Margin doesn't just happen. It's the result of intentional planning. Why don't we do it? It might be that we're finding our value in how much we can do, or that we're enjoying the words of others, words like, "I don't know how you do all you do." It might be that we fear missing out on something good, not being informed enough to participate in a discussion, or simply that we're always comparing ourselves to others. It might be just getting caught up in the pace around us, like being swept downstream in a strong current.

Regardless, we've likely bought into ideas that aren't true. One idea is that we don't need margin. That ignores God calling for a day of rest in every seven. The annual feasts also built downtime into the year. Another possibility may be that we have bought into the idea that more is better. There's an endless number of good things that we can do, due to the prosperous times we live in. There's travel, shopping opportunities, TV, internet, kids sports, community events, outdoor activities, and church, all asking for our time, and taking our mental, physical, and emotional energy.

What we often fail to consider is the spiritual cost. Our walk with the Lord isn't simply 15, or 30, or even 60 minutes in the early morning. It's an all-day-long relationship that begins in the morning and is fueled by prayer throughout the day. Think about prayer and planning – how much stress do we cause ourselves by leaving either one of these out? How much better would life be if both were working together in our lives? Consider Proverbs 16:3, "Commit your works to the Lord And your plans will be established." I write this not just because I see a lot of you struggling with this, but because I do.

Living in the Grace of God,
Pastor Dan

Marriage Ministry Mentor Couple of the Month Ralph & Margie Johnson

A common question that gets asked to a married couple is how and where did you meet? Our answer would most likely be, "We met at church." As young children we both attended the same church. We are not sure at what age that we met, but it was most likely at a very young age. We are grateful that our parents instilled in us the importance of having God in our lives. We attended church, Sunday School, Bible School, and confirmation. We began dating during Ralph's senior year in high school and Margie's sophomore year. Four and a half years later, we were married in that same church on June 21, 1980. God has blessed us with three beautiful children and eleven wonderful grandchildren for us to love.

Our parents showed us what love looks like. We always knew that our parents loved each other and were not afraid to show us what love is. We have tried to emulate that love for each other and model this same thing to our own children. We do not have a perfect marriage, and we have each made our own mistakes, but God has blessed our marriage more than we know. We keep God in the center of our marriage and seek His wisdom and love as we have moved through 45 years together as husband and wife.

We have joined MBC as a Marriage Mentoring couple, not because we have all of the correct answers. We have many years of experiences to share with pre-married and married couples. We are willing to share those experiences with others, so they don't make the same mistakes that we have made. We thank God for His many blessings!!

Newsletter—May 2025

The 2025 short term mission trip is planned for June 8th-14th in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. We have partnered with Kids Around The World (KATW) this year and will be assisting with food distribution, discipleship, evangelism, and service projects in the area. This year's team includes Lukas and Kaitlyn Andersen, Andrea and Alexis Elgin, Luke Morris, Shane Schulte, and Kim Wheeler. If you haven't noticed the neon donation envelopes along the sanctuary walls, then you probably haven't been in the sanctuary recently! Rather than send out support letters this year, the Missions Ministry decided to let you choose an envelope with the dollar amount you would like to contribute and simply drop it in the labeled offering box on the table behind the sanctuary when completed. There are envelopes with low dollar amounts so everyone, including our children, can be a part of the team. Perhaps they can do extra chores, have a little bake sale or lemonade stand, or even share some of their allowance or birthday gift money. A child's $1 is a blessing right along with larger amounts. Indeed they may be giving all that they have just as the widow in Mark 12. Recently in a conversation with an individual from another church, MBC was referred to as a mission-minded church. What a compliment it is when outsiders can see our commitment to obey Jesus' command to go make disciples!

Recently we received news from Tracy and Karen Singleton who we supported for many years as missionaries in Zambia. Although retired and back in the States, they continue to be closely connected to the pastors in Zambia through APC (Action Pastors College). They went back to Lusaka, Zambia in March and April so that Tracy could teach a basic course in biblical interpretation. Karen met with the pastors' wives to share God's Word at a special event. MBC supports APC so that the Singleton's efforts to train Zambian pastors can continue. The ministry is now under the supervision of Zambian leaders but could not continue without U.S. partnership.

Kevin and Robin Warren held a weekend celebration to thank God for 15 years of serving Jesus at Glory Reins Ranch in Virginia. Their spring newsletter had pictures taken over the years as the Ranch was developed. They write "Yet even more important than the physical structures God has provided are the changes that have happened in the hearts of the guests. God has met with them...He has done a beautiful work here!" The next step is the construction of a "wellness barn" for the horses which will require about $24,000. The ministry runs solely on financial gifts and for 15 years God has always provided. It has been an honor to support such Christ-centered work through our monthly financial gifts, prayer, and assistance with construction projects.

Crystal Zimmerman, Missions Ministry Leader

We just celebrated Easter, remembering the Lord's Crucifixion and Resurrection. I would encourage you to be an ambassador for the message of the Gospel. We should be praying for each other that the Lord would open doors to share this life saving message.

We should also be praying for our missionaries who are sharing the Gospel message in many parts of the world. I would encourage you to get a missionary booklet that has all the missionaries our church supports and tells where they are serving the Lord. It also has their email address so you can subscribe to their newsletter. This will allow you to pray for specific aspects of their ministry and current needs. They need our prayer support as well as our financial support.

Dan Keen, Prayer Ministry Leader
